

This created the largest middle class the world had ever seen, and that middle class was part of a virtuous cycle where prosperity created more prosperity.